Retinitis Pigmentosa

On May 17, 2011 the Arlington Heights Lions Club will be hearing about retinitis pigmentosa.

Retinitis Pigmentosa (RP) is among many inherited disorders, which eventually leads to total blindness. RP is characterized by abnormalities in the photoreceptors (rods and cones) of the retina.

Because RP is progressive, it affects individuals in stages. The first stage is usually night blindness or nyctalopia followed by a reduction in the peripheral visual field or tunnel vision. In its worst form, RP can lead to a complete loss in central vision, or total blindness.

Since RP is a progressive disease, it develops at different rates in every case.

Most patients with RP do not experience total blindness until 40 or 50; however, it can occur as early as childhood.

It takes many different tests in order to diagnose RP. A measurement of the electrical responses of retinal cells called electroretinography is used in order to document the loss in photoreceptor cell function.

Electroretinography and other visual field testing are the primary ways ophthalmologists diagnose RP.

We, as Lions, aid those who suffer from RP and other degenerative diseases like it. I hope that we can all learn more about RP from our speaker next week.

Our Lion of the Year!

I wanted to apologize, once again, for omitting this picture in the last newsletter. Congratulations to Lion Ron Niemaszyk for being awarded Lion of the Year at this year's convention. Job well done!

Editor's Notes

Greetings,

Spring has sprung and so has the nice weather (or has it?). I hope this newsletter finds you all clearing away the winter cobwebs and coming out of hibernation to enjoy all that summer has to offer.

We have many different projects ahead during these warmer months, and I hope that we can all find the time in our busy lives to partake in one Lions event.

Don't forget, our installation dinner will be held in June and I want to urge all club members to come and welcome their new officers.

I would also like to take this chance to give a huge thank you to our outgoing officers. Your sincere dedication to this club is something that should be admired by all. Truly thank you for all of your hard work and commitment.
